

The Japanese Marine Insurance Market: Overview, insights and trends

The Asian share of global marine insurance premiums has been on the rise for several years now. Particularly, the cargo market has been growing and Japan accounted for 8.4% of global cargo premiums in 2021 according to IUMI's global marine insurance report. This is second only to China and ahead of the US and the Lloyd's market.

In this webinar, senior executives provide an overview of the Japanese marine insurance market, including historical developments and its peculiarities. The five expert speakers further discuss specific initiatives related to carbon emissions reduction in the marine market as well as loss prevention trends in relation to warehouse fires:

- Introduction to the Japanese Marine Insurance Market: Tom Shinya, Tokio Marine & Nichido Fire Insurance Co., Ltd.
- The Japanese Cargo insurance market: Tom Shinya, Tokio Marine & Nichido Fire Insurance Co., Ltd.
- Ocean hull insurance market : Tomoyuki Takeuchi, Tokio Marine & Nichido Fire Insurance Co., Ltd.
- Marine insurance initiatives for a carbon neutral society: Yohei Kawaguchi, Sompo Japan Insurance Inc.
- The Japanese Offshore Wind Industry: Hiroshi Kondou, Tokio Marine & Nichido Fire Insurance Co., Ltd.
- Trends related to Warehouse Fires and Loss Prevention: Masaru Kogiso, Mitsui Sumitomo Insurance Company, Ltd.

Please click here to access the RECORDING, the SLIDES of Tom Shinya, the SLIDES of Tomoyuki Takeuchi, the SLIDES of Yohei Kawaguchi, the SLIDES of Hiroshi Kondou and the SLIDES of Masaru Kogiso.