

GEORGE MARGETIS MARGETIS MARITIME CONSULTING Marine Engineers and Surveyors

George Margetis, a Greek National, is the founder of MARGETIS MARITIME CONSULTING. George started the Firm in 2006 with a small office in the centre of Piraeus, alone, as a one man show, before leading the Firm to become a Global competitor.

George has 25 years of working experience as a Marine Technical Consultant and Surveyor, and besides of acting as the Managing Director of MARGETIS MARITIME CONSULTING (nowadays visiting frequently the overseas offices), he also handles technical merits of disputes, in close cooperation with the most reputable legal firms having also testified as an expert witness before Courts and Arbitration hearings.

He has extensive experience in handling machinery failure investigations and drafting repair specifications for large scale and complex casualties, such as fires, groundings and collisions.

His academic background includes Graduate Degrees in Naval Architecture & Marine Engineering and Mechanical Engineering from the University of Michigan and M.I.T. in the U.S.A.
